

HISTORY OF REWILDING

History of Rewilding

Thanks to players of The National Lottery, Clapham Film Unit has been awarded a grant from The National Lottery Heritage Fund to record the history of rewilding in England.

We will be gathering oral histories from people who have been involved in rewilding, and making a documentary.

The oral histories will be deposited with the National Life Stories Collection at the British Library. The documentary will be widely screened and broadcast. We are recruiting and training volunteers to take oral history recording roles on this project.

Please get in touch if you would like to volunteer on this project or if you have experience of rewilding in England.

The project runs from April 2026 - November 2027
